Conference Communication

GTCO CalComp's InterWrite MeetingBoard, today's answer to the easel-and-paper combo, lets users write notes and highlight key points on top of presentations using an electronic pen, and operate a computer while standing at the MeetingBoard by using the pen as a mouse. Users can e-mail their annotations to meeting participants. Electronic pens provide full mouse capability — left and right click, drag and drop, etc. — and are available as an interactive dry-erase pen, with electronic eraser included, or a smaller, thinner projection pen for use in interactive mode only. www.gtccalcomp.com
